No Longer at the Front.

Gen. Hood's army has moved Northward, the last of them having left Gadsden nearly a week since. It is expected that our army crossed the Tennessee at Guntersville. The surplus supplies at Blue Mountain have been shipped down the road. The barefooted boys, the invalids and the stragglers, have been passing down the Railroad for several days. The crippled and sore-back horses and broken wagons have gone to the rear. Also have prisoners gone down to their quarters at Cahawba. The army pepper, well stripped for a fight and in high spirits are moving forward.

There was some cavalry fighting on our right wing last week but the enemy were driven off and our army has moved on without interruption thus far. Sherman and his movements have been very quiet for some time; though we will probably hear from him soon. The general impression is that the old flanker has been slightly Hoodwinked.

The War In the West.

The old Hero of the West Gen. Price has been again treading the soil of his native State at the head of a fine army. He has obtained several thousand recruits in Missouri, has captured many prisoners horses and arms. The enemy are making desperate efforts to surround him but at last accounts he was retreating to the southern border of the State in good order and bringing away his captured property.

The Valley.

Our losses in the Valley of Virginia were not so great as many were led to believe. The enemy only claim sixteen hundred prisoners, and Gen. Early has already sent over fourteen hundred yankee prisoners to Richmond.

Steamboat Explosion.

The Steamer Senator No. 2, burned to the water's edge on Saturday night last about 12 miles from Mobile near Pierce's landing. The boat was burned to the waters edge some twenty-five persons are supposed to have perished. There were but two ladies amongst the passengers and they were saved.

Editor of Reporter:

It may be of some interest to you and your readers to hear of what is going on up on the Tennessee River. Capt. Henry F. Smith, of the 4th Ala. Cavalry with 35 of his men crossed the river near Larkins' Landing on last Saturday night and surprised the Yaey camp of Capt. Hamblin and his men 70 strong, killed 12, captured 9 and took 30 horses, 20 saddles, guns, pistols, blankets and camp equipage generally and brought all out safe without the loss of a man and only one slightly wounded in the hand. Capt. Smith has been of considerable service to the counties of Marshall and Jackson as well as to the Confederate Government in that section heretofore, and the citizens generally are glad that he is with them again and will no doubt insist on having his services as long as the enemy remain on the North side of the river if it does not conflict too much with the general service. This is not written for the purpose of telling Capt. Smith for it is done with his knowledge or consent and nearly 100 miles from the place of his operations, but for the purpose of showing what men can do when placed in a country that the officer and his men are all familiar with and know how to take every advantage.

MARSHALL.

THE SITUATION AT ATLANTA.—The Macon Intelligencer, of the 19th inst., says:

As to the situation about Atlanta, we can venture to report that the Yankees still occupy it, having large parties, as we learn from a reliable source, foraging out on the Georgia railroad and around "Peat Shoals," on South river, in Henry county. It is reported that Col. Hanson, a few days ago, threw a few shells into that city, which created a great fuss in the Yankee garrison there, and judging, as our informant states, from the noise made by their drums and horns, it is supposed the force there was pretty large. At "Flat Shoals" the enemy use the mills for grinding corn, protecting their operatives and wagon trains by a large force. All accounts agree that their foraging parties are well protected, as they pass through the country to procure supplies. In a few days we shall doubtless have something more definite and reliable to lay before our readers as to the situation around and about and in the Gate City.

If the intelligence we have from private sources be correct, and we have no reason to doubt it, says the Appeal, the Georgia State and other troops, now concentrating around and about Atlanta, will very soon put an effectual stop to Yankee foraging on the surrounding country.

The new long bridge across the Potomac at Washington City has been completed. It has been building fifteen months, is 4,946 feet long, with two drawers, each 78 feet long. The bridge cost $150,000.

An Act.

To regulate the collection of taxes, and to provide for the exchange and funding of Confederate States Treasury Notes:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Alabama in General Assembly convened, That it shall not be lawful, after the first day of December next, for any tax collector in this State to receive in payment of taxes due the State, Confederate States Treasury notes bearing date prior to the 17th day of February, 1864; and it shall be the duty of all tax collectors to pay into the State Treasury, by the 15th day of December next, the full amount of said Confederate States treasury notes in their hands at that date. No credit shall be allowed for any payment made in said treasury notes after that date; Provided, that the tax collectors shall pay over to the State all collections by them, in the same kind of funds received, without exchanging the same for other funds, and any tax collector who shall violate the provision shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars and not more than five thousand dollars; Provided further, that bills of the denomination of one hundred dollars of the said issue shall not be received in payment of State or county taxes.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That the Governor be and he is hereby authorized and required to exchange one half of the amount of treasury notes of the Confederate States of the issue prior to the 17th of February, 1864, now or hereafter in the treasury of the State, under the provisions of an act of Congress, approved 14th June, 1864, entitled, "An act to amend an act to reduce the currency and to authorize a new issue of notes and bonds," approved 17th February, 1864, using first in such exchange the notes of the denomination of one hundred dollars; Provided, that the State and county treasurers shall receive treasury notes of the Confederate States, except one hundred dollar bills, from tax collectors, dated prior to the 17th February, 1864, at sixty-six and two-third cents on the dollar; the bills of the denominations of less than five dollars shall be received at their nominal value.

SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Governor, after making the exchange required by the preceding section, should there remain on hand any notes of the old issue of the denomination of one hundred dollars, to fund the same, at his discretion, in six per cent. bonds or in four per cent. non-taxable bonds of the Confederate States, under the provisions of the aforesaid act of the 14th June, 1864. After exchanging and funding the old issue of treasury notes, as provided in this act, the remainder shall be paid out of the treasury in currency, at the value fixed by law, being two thirds of the nominal value of said notes, or exchanged for the new issue as soon as the same can be effected.

SEC 4. Be it further enacted, That the provisions of this act regulating the collecting of taxes due the State, shall also apply to taxes due the several counties of this State; and it shall be the duty of tax collectors to pay into the county treasury of their respective counties, by the 5th of December next, the full amount of the old issue of treasury notes which may be in their hands at that date, that the Secretary of State notify the several tax collectors of this State of the passage of this act, and that the Governor be requested to have this act published in every news paper in the State one time.

Approved Oct. 7th 1864.

N. B.—All papers in the State will copy one time, and send receipt and accounts to Executive office, with copy of publication.

J. H. JUDKINS.
Private Secretary.

CLOTHING FOR OUR SOLDIERS.—The winter—cold, biting, freezing winter, will soon be here. Its near approach is very suggestive of hot fires and warm clothing. And first of all, the question arises, are our soldiers provided with good comfortable winter clothing? Are the necessary steps being taken by the Government and people in this matter? All eyes should be directed to this important subject. A ragged, shivering soldier is unfit to fight, it matters not what his qualifications under different circumstances may be.

We trust the people in the country, who have sons, brothers, kindred and friends in the service, will without delay, take the necessary steps to provide clothing such as they can spare. Although not required by the Government, it will be an auxiliary as well as the certain means of shielding them against the chilling blasts of winter.—Macon Confederate.

☞ A French paper, in one of the departmental cities, makes the following singular announcement: "Napoleon III has just received from the Pope the lance from the tomb of Charlemagne." As a great Christian relic this object is of an inconsiderable value, and it is said that the Emperor, whose faith in his own destiny is no secret, considers this gift as a presage that he is called to fill the role of Charlemagne in the restoration of the Church.
